ABSTRACT

This report to the Governor and state assembly members reports two major achievements during the year: the opening of a new library facility for the blind and physically handicapped, and the continued growth of the computerized networking system linking the public libraries of the state. Introductory materials include lists of the members of the South Carolina State Library Board and of the library staff; an organizational chart; a history of the South Carolina State Library; and highlights of fiscal year 1986-1987. A summary of the activities of the Division of Library Development then describes Administrative Services; Field Services (state aid for public libraries, federal aid to South Carolina libraries, continuing education for librarians, library services for the disadvantaged, literacy programs, audiovisual services, library service to children, institutional library services, and public library construction); and Library Services to the Blind and Physically Handicapped. A discussion of Division of Library Services activities includes Reader Services (reference and information services to state government, legislative reference service, interlibrary loan service, the South Carolina Library Network, and government documents); and Technical Services. Reports on state library awards and volunteer services are also provided, as well as a listing of South Carolina State Library publications and statistical data on state library collections, interlibrary loans, expenditures of state and federal funds, and public, college, and institutional libraries. Directories of public, college, and institutional libraries are also provided. (CGD)

BETTY E. CALLAHAM
DIRECTOR

TO: The Honorable Carroll A. Campbell, Jr., Governor of South Carolina, and to the Honorable Members of The General Assembly of South Carolina.

On behalf of Director Betty Callaham, her staff, and the members of the State Library Board, I present for your review the annual report of the South Carolina State Library.

Despite continued budget reductions and the unpredictability of funding, the past year has been most productive. As you are aware, the Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped opened its doors at the Old Columbia Mill site. This new facility will better enable the State Library to provide library services to the visually impaired of South Carolina. We are also proud of the continued growth of the computerized networking system linking the public libraries of the state. The implementation of this network dramatically increases the efficiency of our libraries and makes South Carolina a model for other states to follow in the delivery of reader services.

The strength of our state's libraries continues to be the dedication of its librarians. South Carolina is fortunate to have highly-qualified, professional librarians serving the reading public, from Director Callaham, Deputy Directors Jim Johnson and John Landrum through to the staffs of each county library.

The State Library is proud of its past achievements and looks forward to embarking upon another year of service and accomplishment.

Respectfully submitted,

Timothy G. Driggers
Chairman

I. Director

The Director, who is responsible for the operation of the South Carolina State Library, is appointed by and is responsible to the Board of the State Library.

II. Library Development Division

The Deputy Director for Library Development is responsible for Administrative Services, Field Services, and Services for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

A. Administrative Services

1. General Administration

Plans development and extension of library service; establishes and reviews policies; prepares and administers the annual budget; administers state and federal aid for libraries; promotes the extension and improvement of library service; recommends library legislation; provides support services for all departments and programs.

2. Library Interpretation

Interprets the objectives and functions of the statewide library program; plans and carries out a statewide program of publicity and public relations designed to publicize South Carolina libraries and to make the general public aware of library services; publishes newsletters and reports.

B. Field Services

1. General Field Service

Fosters the development and improvement of public library services; assists local officials, librarians, trustees and citizens through field visits, surveys and correspondence; supervises State Aid for public libraries and LSCA Title I grant programs; oversees all public library projects funded from state and federal funds administered by the South Carolina State Library.

2. Career Education

Provides workshops and training programs for public and institutional library employees and public library trustees; supervises the certification program for public librarians.

3. Library Services for the Disadvantaged

Provides consultant service to local libraries engaged in, or planning, projects in this area; administers grants and supervises local projects; reports on and evaluates the program.

4. Literacy

Plans, develops, implements, and evaluates programs to combat the problem of illiteracy; promotes mutual cooperation between libraries and other state and local agencies serving the illiterate and functionally illiterate.

5. Audio-Visual Service
Plans and administers a statewide film program for public and institutional libraries and community organizations; trains staff in use of films as a means of extending the informational resources of the local library; selects and maintains film collection and A-V equipment; prepares annual film catalog.

6. Library Services for Children
Provides assistance and training for public library staff to enable them to better serve children and parents; coordinates the Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse; serves as liaison to other agencies concerned with child welfare and education.

7. Institutional Library Services
Plans and administers a program to establish, develop and improve library service in state institutions; supervises the library program in individual institutions and provides consultant service for library development in all institutions; administers federally funded grant-in-aid projects.

8. Public Library Construction
Provides consultant service in planning of public and institutional library buildings; advises library boards, library administrators, and architects on state and federal regulations and procedures; administers federal LSCA Title II grant program and supervises construction projects receiving grant funds.

C. Service to the Blind and Physically Handicapped
Provides library service to the blind and physically handicapped; maintains liaison with the Library of Congress's National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped; maintains records of eligible borrowers and of materials and equipment on loan; provides guidance to readers in selection of books; supervises five browsing collections of talking books in local public libraries; conducts public information program to make potential users aware of service.

III. Library Services Division
The Deputy Director for Library Services is responsible for Reader Services, Technical Services, and the South Carolina Library Network.

A. Reader Services
1. Reference Service
Provides reference and research services to State Government, State Government agencies, and State employees; performs on-line computer data base reference and bibliographic searches; maintains and services federal document collection and grants research collection; selects books and other materials to be added to the general reference collection; prepares and publishes a monthly bibliography of new acquisitions and prepares special bibliographies.

2. Interlibrary Loan Service
Provides statewide reference and interlibrary loan service to supplement local library resources; supplies materials and answers reference requests for libraries throughout the state; uses OCLC/SOLINET bibliographic computer network for interlibrary loan and reference; provides consultant service to local libraries in the development of reference services and collections; plans and provides workshops to increase the effectiveness of library employees engaged in reference services.

3. Interlibrary Cooperation
Promotes cooperative activities and sharing of resources by all South Carolina libraries; plans and administers LSCA Title III grant program and monitors local projects.

4. State Documents Depository System
Coordinates the South Carolina State Documents Depository System; collects, catalogs, and distributes to designated affiliate libraries the publications of State Government agencies and institutions; provides consultant and supervisory service to depository libraries; promotes and publicizes document services; prepares the quarterly checklist and annual index of state documents.

B. Technical Services
Acquires and makes available all materials used in the library program; catalogs and classifies books, serials, pamphlets, and non-book materials; purchases and receives all materials; receives, stores and distributes periodicals and newspapers; classifies and/or catalogs all state and federal documents received; prepares all materials for use and maintains the book collection; uses OCLC/SOLINET bibliographic computer network for cataloging and retrospective conversion; maintains DRA data base.

C. South Carolina Library Network
Maintains and operates a computer-based statewide library network and communication system to facilitate sharing of library resources and services; provides consultant service to local libraries in the automation of library functions, conversion of bibliographic records to machine-readable form, and resource sharing activities.

I. INTRODUCTION

Statutory authority for the South Carolina State Library is provided by Title 60, Chapter 1 of the Code of Laws of South Carolina. Originally authorized in 1929 and known as the State Library Board, the public library extension agency was first funded in 1943. It was redesignated the South Carolina State Library with a broad range of responsibilities by Act 464 of 1969. The legislation was recodified and new functions were authorized by Act 178 of 1985. Certain functions are also authorized and funded by the federal Library Services and Construction Act (P.L. 84-597 as amended).

The South Carolina State Library is an independent state agency governed by a library board of seven members named by the Governor, with one member from each Congressional District and one from the state-at-large. Members serve five-year terms and may be reappointed. The Director, who is responsible for the operation of the agency, is appointed by and is responsible to the State Library Board. The agency is organized under two divisions. The Deputy Director for Library Development is responsible for Administrative Services, Field Services, and Services for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. The Deputy Director for Library Services is responsible for Reader Services, including the South Carolina Library Network, and Technical Services.

The mission of the South Carolina State Library is to serve the educational, informational, cultural and recreational needs of the people of South Carolina. It strives to improve library services throughout the state and to ensure that all citizens have access to library and information resources adequate to meet their individual needs.

The State Library's major functions are to provide technical assistance and support services to the public libraries and state institutional libraries of the state in order that they may better serve all the residents of South Carolina; to supplement the resources of other libraries by maintaining appropriate collections of library materials and information services and by providing research, interlibrary loan, and bibliographic services; to provide research, loan, and reference services to meet the information needs of the General Assembly, state officers and agencies, and state government employees; to stimulate cooperation and resource sharing among all types of libraries in order to provide the widest possible access to the library and information resources of the state; and to provide library services to visually and physically handicapped readers in the state and to assist libraries in developing outreach programs to serve other groups with special needs: the handicapped, the educationally deprived, those with limited English-speaking ability, the culturally disadvantaged, and the elderly.

II. HISTORY

In 1929, the General Assembly, at the urging of citizens interested in quality county-wide library service, passed legislation establishing the State Public Library Association and a State Library Board composed of five citizens. In the depths of the Great Depression, no funds were appropriated for the library extension agency, but grants from the South Carolina Library Association and the Rosenwald Foundation enabled the State Library Board to employ a field agent from 1929 to 1932 to assist communities interested in the development of public library service.

The first statewide library program was carried out under the Works Project Administration from 1935 to 1943. The WPA's major objective was to provide each county of the state some measure of area-wide public library service. The WPA library program helped establish library service in some areas and in others it enhanced existing libraries' operations. The WPA program made possible the establishment of bookmobile service in twenty-three counties formerly without rural library service. At its demise in 1943, the WPA had been successful in creating public library service in some form in all counties.

The State Library Board received its first appropriation of $3,000 in 1943 and inherited the assets of the WPA. Under the leadership of Nancy C. Blair (1943-1946) and Estellene P. Walker (1946-1979), the State Library Board initiated its program with emphasis on State Aid to public libraries and a goal of statewide public library service. County or regional libraries were established in all forty-six counties. The pattern of unified library systems, each legally established and governed by a single library board, made possible a good level of service by eliminating expensive duplication and overhead and by sharing resources and personnel.

When the federal Library Services Act was passed in 1956, the State Library Board, by executive order of the Governor, was charged with administering and implementing within the state the library programs provided for in the Act. Through this Act, the agency's functions were expanded to include service to the blind and physically handicapped, development of library service in state institutions, and interlibrary cooperation.

In 1969, as the result of action by the General Assembly, the State Library Board was redesignated as the South Carolina State Library and assumed responsibility for public library development, library service for state institutions, service for the blind and physically handicapped, and library service to state government and state government agencies. The library occupied its new building at 1500 Senate Street in November 1969. In 1985, an act was passed providing for the recodification of the State Library's legislation. The new legislation reauthorized all functions of the State Library and consolidated a variety of authorizations found in state and federal laws and regulations, executive orders and budget provisos.

The 1985 legislation also provided the legal basis for the South Carolina Library Network, a statewide computer-based network developed by the State Library to serve all South Carolinians. Between 1985 and 1987, the State Library's bibliographic functions (cataloging, circulation, and interlibrary loan) were automated. A telecommunications network was then developed to give public, academic, and TEC libraries as well as agencies of state government on-line access to the State Library's catalog. The Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped was automated in 1986. Automation has increased the productivity and efficiency of the State Library, while the network has enabled citizens throughout the state to have better access to library resources.

The State Library now has a threefold responsibility. As a library extension agency, it provides a staff of consultants to assist public and state institutional libraries in strengthening services, administers state and federal aid to libraries, and encourages cooperation and resource sharing among all types of libraries. As a reference and research library, it maintains a comprehensive collection of books, documents, periodicals, films and other materials to supplement local library resources and provide information not available at the local level and to supply legislators, officials and state agency personnel with the information requested for planning and decision-making. It answers questions, lends books and materials, researches issues, prepares bibliographies, collects state and federal documents, and provides information about legislation and programs of other states and the U.S. government. As the regional library for the blind and physically handicapped, the State Library serves all handicapped readers in the state. Established in 1973, the Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped now serves more than 8,000 registered borrowers, providing them with recorded books on disk or cassette tape, equipment to read these materials, and also large print materials for the partially sighted.

Public library development, the original mandate of the State Library, continues to be an essential function. Because county libraries were originally established by individual enabling acts passed by the General Assembly, the effects of the 1975 Home Rule Act upon local legislation necessitated passage of a statewide library act. In 1978 the Legislature amended the Home Rule Act to require counties to provide library systems. Act 564 (S.C. Code, 1979 Supp., Sec. 4-9-35 et seq.) stated:

> "The General Assembly finds that county public libraries make a substantial contribution to the education and recreation of the residents of the state and merit the continued interest and support of state and local government."

Through the years the State's financial support for public libraries has grown significantly. Beginning in 1943 with only $200 per county system, State Aid increased to $1,500 per county by 1952. Years of effort, climaxed by the 1965 Governor's Conference on Public Libraries, resulted in the change to a per capita basis for State Aid. From twenty cents per capita ($69,650) in 1966-67, State Aid increased in gradual steps to $1.00 per capita in 1984-85 although mid-year budget cuts reduced that amount in succeeding years. With local, state, and federal support, South Carolina now has county-wide library service for all forty-six counties.

III. HIGHLIGHTS OF 1986-1987

Budget cuts and continuing fiscal restraints overshadowed all of the events of 1986-1987. The year began and ended with gubernatorial vetoes. In June 1986 Governor Riley vetoed items equalling .5% of the FY 87 appropriation, and Governor Campbell vetoed 1% of the FY 88 appropriation in June 1987. In between the Budget and Control Board mandated cuts of 2.6% in November and .8% in February. For five consecutive years, annual increases in appropriations have been offset by mid-year budget reductions, making both planning and management exceedingly difficult. Nevertheless, 1986-1987 was a year of accomplishment. Through extraordinary staff effort, automation, and shifting of resources, the State Library was able to maintain service levels and even surpass last year's performance measures in most areas. The most serious effects of the budget cuts were on the library's book budget and on State Aid for public libraries which was reduced to $.961 per capita. The corollary to state funding cuts is an increasing dependence on federal funds.

The foremost event of the year was the relocation of the Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped to new quarters in the Columbia Mill Complex. After thirteen years in crowded, inadequate rented space, the library now has a permanent home. Initially the basement of the old mill seemed an unlikely location for a library; but the staff, working with the State Engineer's Office, proved that it is indeed possible to transform a "sow's ear into a silk purse". The new library is not only spacious but also functional, attractive, and handicapped accessible. With adequate space and automated circulation, it will now be possible to extend service to many more readers when the State is able to provide the necessary staff.

Network development continued throughout the year as the library completed Phase I and, with little fanfare, proceeded to implement Phase II. Public, academic, and TEC libraries, as well as some state agencies, received training and were given access to LION (Library Information On-line), the computer-based catalog. A second computer, a Microvax II, was added to mount the BPH data base, thus improving network response time on the original VAX 11-750. Planning for future enhancements is ongoing, with preparations or study underway for authority control, an electronic bulletin board, a union list of serials, and demonstration projects for service to school library media centers.

Two major pieces of legislation enacted by the 1987 General Assembly affect South Carolina libraries. The new Freedom of Information Act is intended to give citizens better access to information about the performance of public officials and agencies. Library boards must give advance notice of meetings, make their meetings open to the public, take most actions in public meetings, and make many records accessible to the public. The Freedom of Information Act does preserve the confidentiality of library registration and circulation records which was established by Act 108 of 1985. New obscenity legislation was enacted during the year in response to recommendations of the Meese Commission. Although intended to protect minors from pornography and directed primarily against adult bookstores, the legislation is so broadly drawn that many literary, artistic, or factual materials in libraries could be judged obscene by some individuals. Most library boards have reaffirmed their commitment to the Library Bill of Rights and Freedom to Read statements, while updating their selection policies and challenged materials policies to be prepared for possible objections.

The year was crowded with other events. More than four hundred library supporters attended the sixth annual Library Legislative Day on March 4. Twelve South Carolinians, including the State Library Board Chairman, Director, and Deputy Director, participated in ALA's Legislative Day in Washington on April 7. The State Library continued working with other agencies involved in the literacy initiative, hosted a statewide workshop for literacy workers and librarians, and made numerous LSCA grants to libraries for local literacy projects. The State Library Director was appointed to serve on Governor Campbell's GOLD (Governor's Outreach for Literacy Development) Committee.

Internally, the automation of accounting continued with full implementation of the BARS system. Staff members participated in planning and training for GAAP - the State's plan for implementing Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. The Field Services staff assisted county libraries in complying with the Single Audit Act. A classification and compensation study conducted by the Division of Human Resource Management resulted in the reclassification or reallocation of most staff positions. The staff continued to refine the library's planning process during the annual goal setting exercise and also worked on plans for disaster preparedness materials conservation, and information technology. Present services and programs were maintained and strengthened, and plans for future enhancements and innovations are on the drawing board.

IV. DIVISION OF LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT

A. ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES

The General Administration of the State Library is carried out by a cabinet-style management team headed by the Library Director and consisting of the Deputy Directors and Department Heads. Within the policies and guidelines established by the State Library Board, this team plans development and extension of library service, prepares and administers the annual budget, administers state and federal aid for libraries, promotes the extension and improvement of library service, and recommends library legislation.

Support services for General Administration and for the entire agency are provided by the Administrative Services staff composed of nine individuals under the direction of the Business Manager. Support services are: (1) Information/ Clerical Support, (2) Finance/Accounting/Payroll, (3) Personnel, (4) Procurement, and (5) Facilities Management.

The Information/Clerical Support staff provides services to all departments through word processing, mail service, telephone service, reprographics, records management, and motor vehicle management. Enhancements were made in word processing by the purchase of updated software programs and refinements to existing programs.

Finance/Accounting/Payroll handles all financial transactions and maintains records of state appropriations and federal funds under the Library Services and Construction Act. One full-time accountant and one full-time accounting technician processed 3,097 vouchers totalling approximately $6,318,888.

During 1986-87, the State Library cooperated with the State's plans to improve accounting and procurement procedures. The Accounting staff attended training sessions conducted by the Comptroller General's Office on the new Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Upon implementation of the project, the State will be able to prepare a statewide Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) on a GAAP basis. The BARS Accounting System was fully implemented by the State Library. The statewide vendor coding system using the nine digit Federal Employer Identification Number (FEIN) and Social Security Number instead of the five digit internal number was implemented.

The State Library is an Affirmative Action Equal Opportunity Employer, and operates under an Affirmative Action Plan approved by the South Carolina Commission on Human Affairs. The agency administers its personnel program in compliance with State personnel regulations and requirements. During the year, an agency-wide personnel study was conducted by the Human Resource Management Division and most positions were reclassified as a result.

The new State Telephone System 85 was implemented on July 4, 1986. As use of the system evolved, modifications and enhancements were made to help meet the agency's needs. Furniture and equipment purchases were made for the new offices housing the Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

The Library Interpretation Program, supervised by the Deputy Director for Library Development, is a special project under Administrative Services. The goal of this project is to interpret the objectives and functions of the statewide library program. It plans and carries out a statewide program of publicity and public relations designed to publicize South Carolina libraries and to make the general public aware of library services available within the state. Through this project, the State Library publishes a number of newsletters and reports. During the year a consulting team reviewed the Library Interpretation Program and recommended plans for promoting library services available through the South Carolina Library Network and increasing awareness of the State Library services to state government agencies.

B. FIELD SERVICES

The Field Services staff is charged with the development and improvement of public library service throughout the state and of library service in the state institutions. Consultants provide assistance to library directors, boards of trustees, library staffs, library organizations, and state agencies and institutions.

Two special consultants work with all the public and state institutional libraries in the areas of children's and audio-visual services. Four general consultants (including the Field Services Director) serve as liaison between the State Library and the thirty-nine county and regional library systems which provide service to all of the state's forty-six counties. Each consultant works with specific county and regional libraries. The nature of the consultant's work depends upon the level of library service in the system and on the training, expertise, and experience of individual librarians. The state institutional consultant performs a similar function in the thirty-nine institutional libraries maintained by seven state departments and agencies.

In 1987 the Field Staff - via regular on-site visits, telephone, and correspondence - assisted librarians, trustees, citizens, and administrators of state institutions in determining the library needs of their communities and ways to meet those needs. They provided workshops and training programs for library employees and public library trustees; explored solutions for local problems with library directors and boards; and supplied information on topics ranging from policies and standards of service to budget preparation to building construction. The Field Staff is also responsible for administering State Aid to public libraries and for supervising grants-in-aid to public and state institutional libraries under the Library Services and Construction Act.

During fiscal 1986-87, the Field Services Librarians:

-- worked with the 39 public library systems serving 46 counties of the state and with the 39 institutional libraries maintained by seven departments and agencies;

-- made 419 field trips to public and institutional libraries;

-- attended 70 local library board meetings;

-- monitored library budgets including approximately $18.8 million in local funds;

-- administered $3,001,246 in State Aid grants to public libraries;

-- supervised LSCA projects providing approximately $476,530 in grants-in-aid to public libraries and $41,537 in grants to state institutional libraries;

-- collected statistics and prepared and distributed statewide the Annual Statistical Summary;

-- represented the State Library at local, state, and national conferences, conventions, workshops, professional associations, building dedications, civic organizations, and other state and local meetings;

-- certified 41 professional and pre-professional public librarians;

-- provided recruiting, placement, and training services for public librarians and for librarians in the state institutions;

-- carried out additional duties either directly or through liaison activities.

State Aid for Public Libraries. The program of State Aid to public libraries has been funded continuously since 1943. For FY 87, the General Assembly appropriated $3,121,820 to the State Library for distribution to the public libraries at the rate of $1.00 per capita. However, the Governor vetoed .5%, and the State Budget and Control Board mandated additional across-the-board reductions in a First Interim Reduction in November of 2.6% and a Second Interim Reduction in February of 0.8%. The final allocation for the year was $3,001,246, a reduction of 3.9 cents per capita for each county and regional library system.

The regulations under which the funds are administered require that participating libraries be legally established, provide county-wide service, maintain levels of county funding, and meet certain standards of service. Qualifying libraries may use State Aid funds to supplement staff salaries, to purchase books and audio-visual materials, to purchase or lease equipment and computer hardware and software, and to operate and maintain bookmobiles. These regulations ensure that State funds will not replace local funds and that the funds will be used to achieve a higher level of service. In 1987, all forty-six counties qualified for State Aid funds. Historically, State Aid requirements provided the incentive for establishment of library systems providing county-wide service. In recent years, matching and maintenance of effort requirements have encouraged county governments to increase local support for libraries.

Federal Aid to South Carolina Libraries. The Library Services and Construction Act, the source of federal aid for library service, includes six titles: Title I, Public Library Services; Title II, Public Library Construction; Title III, Interlibrary Cooperation and Resource Sharing; Title IV, Library Service to Indian Tribes; Title V, Foreign Language Materials Acquisition; and Title VI, Library Literacy Programs.

General purposes of the Library Services and Construction Act are to provide for improved public library service, the construction of public library buildings, the strengthening of state library agencies, and the promotion of interlibrary cooperation among all types of libraries. Emphasis is also placed on reaching the unserved and the inadequately served.

Title I - Public Library Services: This title supports improved service to public libraries, institutional libraries and to special segments of the population. Grants-in-aid have been used to develop new programs of service, to improve the level of service in existing programs, and to strengthen book and periodical collections. Continuing education grants have contributed to the upgrading of library personnel. Outreach programs enable libraries to help the culturally disadvantaged, the functionally illiterate, the handicapped, and people who need special services. Grants are made for the automation of library services and the conversion of bibliographic records. Title I also provides grants to improve library service in state-supported institutions. In FY 87 the State Library was awarded $1,132,157 for Title I.

Title II - Public Library Construction: During FY 87 this title provided funds for construction projects which contributed to improved service in the participating county library systems. (See Public Library Construction.) In FY 87 the State Library was awarded $330,289 for Title II.

Title III - Interlibrary Cooperation and Resource Sharing: Programs funded under this title have resulted in improved communications, bibliographic access, interlibrary loan, consultant services, and study and planning. During FY 87, Title III projects were designed to contribute to the long-range goals of enhancing the state bibliographic network. The expanding statewide data base helps eliminate expensive duplication of materials and makes the state's library resources available to all South Carolinians. (See Network Development). In FY 87 the State Library was awarded $253,241 for Title III.

Title IV - Library Service to Indian Tribes: South Carolina is not eligible to participate in this title since it has no recognized Indian tribes.

Title V - Foreign Language Materials Acquisition: This title was not funded in FY 87.

Title VI - Library Literacy Programs: This title is administered as a direct grant through the U.S. Department of Education. In FY 87 the State Library received a grant of $25,000 to conduct a workshop on cooperative literacy programs.

Continuing Education For Librarians. Recognizing the need for well-trained personnel, the State Library has consistently supported a program of continuing education for public and institutional library personnel at all levels and for public library trustees. Grants are awarded to attend conferences, seminars, and academic courses in librarianship. The State Library also plans and provides workshops in specific subject areas when it deems necessary.

In 1986-87, nine pre-professional librarians were awarded grants to attend academic courses in the foundations of library and information science, computers and libraries, interpersonal communications, and the organization of library materials. A staff member also attended a workshop on bookmobile service in preparation for developing this service in a county which was purchasing its own bookmobile for the first time. Twenty-three non-professional librarians representing fifteen county library systems and the State Library attended the two-week course, Public Service for Library Technicians, offered by the University of South Carolina College of Library and Information Science and funded by the State Library. This intensive course concentrated on basic reference service and related information. The housing arrangements and academic setting also provided an excellent opportunity for the interchange of ideas and experiences among the participants.

Six professional librarians and a library trustee attended seminars and conferences on computers, bookmobile service, and the purchase of integrated automated systems.

Members of the State Library Staff attended workshops or seminars on financial management, personnel, public relations, and accounting.

In November, the State Library sponsored a Collection Management Workshop directed at the needs of public libraries with seventy-three participants in attendance. Literacy Initiatives: Working Together for a Literate South Carolina was held in May. This literacy workshop was funded under an LSCA Title VI grant with 160 participants representing local literacy councils, literacy volunteers, public libraries, and government agencies which work with literacy programs. Children's Services workshops included Programming for Pre-Schoolers held in February and regional workshops in the spring on the summer reading program. The State Library's Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped sponsored a workshop for public library personnel for the purpose of familiarizing them with its services.

Library Service for the Disadvantaged. Grants totalling $56,700 were awarded to seven county library systems to establish and extend library service to the disadvantaged during FY 87 and $80,000 was reserved for five county and regional library systems pending qualification for county up-grade grants.

Providing access to library services to the disadvantaged in rural and other isolated areas continues to be a serious problem in South Carolina. Grants were made to two county library systems to establish and improve bookmobile programs, to one library system to improve deposit collections in rural areas, to two library systems for outreach programs, and to one library system to improve service to homebound and other isolated residents.

Special Services for the Disadvantaged county up-grade grants are available to assist qualifying library systems to develop minimum levels of service and financial support prerequisites for outreach services. Library systems qualify for matching funds by identifying basic service and funding needs and providing a commitment to increased local funding from local governmental sources. In FY 87 four regional library systems and one county library system were identified as eligible.

Literacy Program. The library literacy program was designated as a separate program in FY 87 and awarded grants totalling $70,582 to fifteen county and regional library systems. These grants were used to extend and improve library service to the illiterate and the functionally illiterate segments of the population. Prior to FY 86, awards for literacy projects were made as part of the Library Services to the Disadvantaged program.

With one out of every four adults twenty-five years of age and over identified as functionally illiterate, continued emphasis was placed on planning, development, and implementation of cooperative programs to combat the problems of illiteracy in South Carolina. In all projects, cooperation and coordination with local agencies and organizations such as the local office of adult education, literacy councils, recreation departments, health agencies, social service agencies, etc., was stressed.

Grants were awarded for programs designed to prevent adult illiteracy as well as for traditional adult literacy programs.

The majority of grants were made to plan, develop, and provide collections of materials to assist tutors with the teaching of reading and which met the reading level and interest of adult students. Several grants were made to explore the use of new technology with literacy programs.

Audio-Visual Services. The Field Service Librarian for Audio-Visual Programs is responsible for planning and administering a statewide film program for public libraries, institutional libraries, and community organizations. He trains staff in the use of films as a means of extending the informational resources of the local library and selects and maintains the film collection and A-V equipment. During FY 87, he made thirty field trips to provide in-service training, technical assistance, and help in programming and promoting the use of A-V materials in public and institutional libraries. Four regional preview sessions were held this year featuring children's films.

The State Library's audio-visual collection is comprised of the following materials:

16mm motion picture films
3/4" U-Matic video tapes
1/2" VHS video tapes
1/2" Betamax video tapes
35mm filmstrips
35mm slides
Audio cassettes
Puppets

The 2,027 16mm films make up the bulk of the audio-visual collection. Such a collection at the state level prevents costly duplication of expensive resources and makes available to the public a much larger selection of materials than any library could provide alone. A total of 3,650 audio-visual materials were booked by the department in FY 87 for 4,939 programs. In addition to serving public and institutional libraries directly, the State Library lends audio-visual materials through local public libraries to civic groups, churches, nursing homes, day care centers for children, hospitals, museums and zoos. In FY 87, thirty-five public libraries participated in lending audio-visual materials to community groups and organizations.

In addition to the materials mentioned above, the State Library also circulates and maintains audio-visual materials which have been put on permanent loan by the South Carolina Literacy Association. The Field Service Librarian for Audio-Visual Programs also supervises the circulation and maintenance of the audio-visual materials in the Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse Collection.

During FY 87, the publication of the quarterly newsletter "News About the A-V Scene" was continued. This newsletter, which deals solely with information in non-print format, is mailed to every public library (including branches) and to every state institutional library in South Carolina.

In FY 87, the State Library automated the booking and circulation of its audio-visual materials. Switching from a manual system will streamline booking procedures, provide better control of the collection, and make efficient use of staff time.

A First Supplement (January 1987) to the 1985 Catalog of Audio-Visual Materials was compiled, printed and distributed during this fiscal year.

Library Service to Children. Early and continued exposure to books and libraries is important in helping children learn to read and study. The South Carolina State Library is committed to helping public libraries provide the best possible service to children. The children's consultant helps public and institutional libraries with planning and evaluation, collection development, program planning, staff training and public relations.

Service to children extends also to encouraging parents and adults who work with children to use library resources for their own enrichment and to make libraries and reading a regular part of family and group life. The State Library is participating with the USC College of Library and Information Science in planning a promotional effort directed to parents and caregivers. The "Read to Someone You Love" campaign will be implemented during 1987-88.

A new edition of the Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse Catalog was prepared and distributed. This catalog lists the non-print resources about early childhood development and education that are available on loan from state agencies, institutions and organizations for use in staff and parent education. Users include child development centers, social service agencies, churches, schools and other state agencies.

During 1986-87, the children's consultant made fifty-nine field visits to public and institutional libraries. A workshop on "Programming for Preschoolers" was held for staff of public libraries. The Palmetto Pete Summer Reading Program, sponsored cooperatively by the State Library and public libraries throughout the state, enrolled, 28,290 children and attracted an attendance of 42,852 at group programs during the summer of 1986. The State Library again sponsored regional workshops to help libraries plan for the 1987 Summer Reading Program. A successful summer tour by Chopstick Theater of Charleston was coordinated by the State Library with local funding supplemented by a grant from the South Carolina Arts Commission.

The State Library was a co-sponsor of the first "A(ugusta) Baker's Dozen: A Celebration of Stories" which attracted large audiences to hear storytelling by nationally known figures and to participate in lectures and workshops on storytelling.

Institutional Library Services. The Institutional Library Services Program of the South Carolina State Library assists in the development and improvement of libraries in state-supported institutions. The State Library provides monetary and professional assistance to these libraries. This program includes the services of consultants, workshops for administrators and librarians, scholarships and workshops for library personnel, reference and interlibrary loan, and grants-in-aid for the purchase of materials. The emphasis of this year's workshops has been on self-study for institutional librarians in terms of library administration, personnel, finance, technical services, collections and circulation.

In FY 87 thirty-nine institutions, maintained by seven state departments and agencies, provided library service to residents and participated in the LSCA grant project. Twenty-four of these offer full service under the direction of qualified library personnel. Included in this number are nine adult correctional institutions. In addition, eight other adult correctional institutions are served from a central library division maintained by the Department of Corrections via bookmobile and book van.

Four institutions too small to provide full-service library programs are served by a special project of the State Library. Two addictions centers, a vocational rehabilitation center for physically disabled persons, and a long-term care mental health facility annually receive collections of paper bound books especially selected for the use of their residents in recreation or therapy.

In FY 87 the State Library's Institutional Library Consultant maintained liaison with the South Carolina Bibliotherapy Association and made eighty-nine field trips to work with state institutional librarians and administrators.

Public Library Construction. The State Library provides consultant service in the planning of public and institutional library buildings; advises library boards, library administrators, and architects on state and federal regulations and procedures; administers the federal LSCA Title II grant program and supervises public library construction projects receiving grant funds. State Library staff work with public library staffs, boards, and local officials in the writing of building programs, drawing of initial floor plans, critiques of architectural drawings, furniture layout, fund raising, and justifying need to funding authorities.

The key word concerning public library construction in FY 87 was planning. Only one project, a new Darlington County Library headquarters, was under construction. A $150,000 FY 85 LSCA Title II grant was awarded to assist with this project. Plans to expand the headquarters of the Beaufort County Library and to add an elevator for handicapped accessibility at the Sumter County Library were being finalized. These two projects will complete FY 85 funding.

The State Library has $316,482 in FY 86 funding and $330,289 in FY 87 funding available from LSCA Title II. Libraries in a number of counties are in the process of developing written building programs, raising funds, and working with architects prior to submitting applications for LSCA Title II funds. Among these are Aiken County (new headquarters), Chester County (expansion of Great Falls Branch), Georgetown County (new headquarters), Laurens County (new headquarters), Kershaw County (expansion of headquarters), Orangeburg County (expansion of headquarters), and York County (new Lake Wylie Branch). Most of these projects should be funded in FY 88.

C. LIBRARY SERVICES TO THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

The major event of the year occurred in November 1986 when the Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (DBPH) moved into the Columbia Mill Complex. The library welcomed this move into a fully handicapped accessible facility after thirteen years in inadequate rental quarters. The 28,000 sq. ft. will allow the library to expand its programs, increase the size of its materials collections, develop a sophisticated volunteer program, and generally improve the overall level of service. The library was formally dedicated on March 25, 1987.

The State Library provides this service in cooperation with the Library of Congress, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS). Any South Carolinian who is unable to read conventional print due to a visual or physical handicap is eligible for this service. This includes, but is not limited to, blindness, double vision, cataracts, glaucoma, stroke, paralysis, palsy, multiple sclerosis, and learning disabilities. The Library of Congress provides books and magazines in recorded disc and cassette formats, as well as the required playback equipment, and books in braille. The State Library provides staff, facilities, operating costs, and a supplemental collection of books in large print. It also contracts with the North Carolina State Library for braille service. Reading materials are available in all subject areas and for all age groups. No postage is required to either mail materials to readers or to return them to the library.

Service was provided to 9,414 readers in FY 87. There has been a steady increase in the number of people served since the State Library assumed responsibility for this service in FY 73. At that time only 1,800 were being served. By contrast 1,343 new readers were registered in FY 87 alone. An estimated 43,705 South Carolinians are potentially eligible. In response to requests, a total of 241,971 books and magazines were circulated this year, an increase of more than 100,000. The new automated system has enabled a small staff to greatly increase book circulation. This total does not reflect the 70,000 magazines sent to readers directly by the producers upon notification by the State Library.

The collection of materials numbered 152,792. Due to the lack of space at its former location the collection did not grow as it should have. It is expected that this will be corrected in the future.

Automated system performance was improved when a DEC Microvax II computer for DBPH was installed in February 1987. Until that time DBPH shared time on the South Carolina Library Network's DEC VAX 11/750.

Because services are primarily via mail from Columbia, South Carolina, a newsletter in large print and on cassette tape and an In-WATS telephone line with an after hours recording device serve as principal means of communication. The In-WATS line recorded over 7,000 calls using 437.5 hours.

Even though no formal public relations efforts were carried out due to the pressures of moving and of automating departmental services, 1,343 new readers were reached in FY 87. Plans are being developed to participate in the NLS Public Relations Program which will involve public service announcements for television and radio. In concert with this, staff will exhibit at conferences, speak before appropriate consumer groups, and schedule media talk shows to promote this service. Public libraries are also encouraged to promote this service by identifying potential patrons and generally assisting with publicity efforts. Handicapped people are also encouraged to utilize appropriate services of their public libraries. Five county libraries - Anderson, Charleston, Florence, Greenville, and Spartanburg - have small browsing collections of materials for use by local residents.

Despite the advantages of a new location and the benefits of automation, there is still the problem that the present staff is inadequate to meet the needs of our patrons. A consultant visit from NLS pointed out the immediate need for a volunteer coordinator and two more clerks. The State Library will request the creation of a volunteer coordinator position in the FY 89 budget.

V. DIVISION OF LIBRARY SERVICES

A. READER SERVICES

Reference and Information Services to State Government. The State Library serves as a major source of information for state government agencies. Reference librarians research the library's collection of materials and specialized information sources to answer state employees' information requests. These requests vary in complexity depending on the type of information needed by state government personnel to carry out their job assignments. Questions answered by librarians range from brief, direct inquiries such as the address of a manufacturing corporation or the latest consumer price index figure to multiple-concept information requests such as the link between education and economic development.

Reference librarians also provide assistance and guidance to state government personnel in using the library's facilities and collection. Much of this assistance is provided on a one-to-one basis, but also during the year ten group orientation sessions were provided to different state agency units to familiarize personnel with the library's collection and services.

To improve its ability to meet the information demands of state government, the reference staff continually attempts to identify and purchase new publications of interest to state government. Materials specifically recommended by individuals in state government are frequently ordered for the collection as well. By acquiring, housing, and offering these informational materials at one central location, the library attempts to eliminate the need for individual state agencies to purchase and maintain extensive, and often very expensive collections of research materials. During the year, the library began purchasing some materials in audio-visual format as part of its circulating collection. A number of instructional foreign language audiotapes were added to the collection as well as videotapes relating to library and general management concerns.

In order to focus attention on new materials which are continually being added to the State Library's collection, New Resources, a selective listing of new books, journal articles, and government publications of interest to state government, is mailed on a monthly basis to 460 state employees and to all state legislators during the legislative session. State agency personnel and legislators may then borrow or obtain photocopy of any items listed in New Resources.

In its endeavor to meet the daily information needs of state government agencies, the State Library has developed particulary strong collections in the areas of political science, the social sciences, human resources management, and education. In the field of education, the State Library maintains a complete collection of the Education Resources Information Clearinghouse (ERIC). This collection represents the most extensive set of research materials relating to various aspects of education in the nation. The ERIC document collection, published in microfiche format, currently numbers over 280,000 separate publications. The collection is used extensively by the South Carolina Department of Education, teachers, school administrators, students, and other researchers.

The library is frequently called upon for information relating to or produced by federal and South Carolina governmental agencies. Laws, regulations, statistical figures, etc., are often sought by state agency personnel in documenting their research and planning projects. The library attempts to support these information needs by subscribing to such publications as the Code of Federal Regulations, Federal Register Index, and American Statistics Index. Government documents issued by such agencies as the U.S. Department of Commerce, U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, and the South Carolina Division of Research and Statistical Services receive frequent use. In addition, the library serves as an affiliate of the State Data Center to provide South Carolina citizens with access to census data.

The Grants Research Collection represents another specialized group of materials which is designed to inform fund-raisers and grant seekers about the funding patterns, policies and key personnel of major philanthropic foundations and corporate philanthropic programs across the country. In its role as a regional collection of the Foundation Center for South Carolina, the State Library receives tax returns filed with the Internal Revenue Service by South Carolina philanthropic foundations. These returns contain often difficult-to-locate information on trustees, grants, and geographic focus of the foundations. The collection is frequently used by individuals in raising funds to support non-profit organizations in the state. During the latter part of the year, the third edition of the South Carolina Foundation Directory was completed. Information compiled on South Carolina philanthropic foundations was also down loaded into the library's computerized information system in order to provide on-line access to the information and a means to easily update foundation reports.

To enhance its research capabilities, the State Library provides Data Search, a service to locate information contained in computerized data bases. The library currently has access to over 380 informational data bases offered by various data base vendors. During the year, the library expanded its access to new data bases. In addition to its previous use of DIALOG Information Services, the State Library became a subscriber to several new data base services. These include: BRS Information Technologies, ISIS (Integrated States Information System) produced by the Council of State Governments, SCOIS (South Carolinia Occupaticnal Information System) produced by the South Carolina Employment Security Commission, CUFAN (Clemson University Forestry and Agricultural Network), and LUIS (Library User Information Service), the automated catalog of the Clemson University Library. These data bases vary in content and format, including bibliographic citation listings, full-text articles and reports, directory data, and numeric tabulations. Increasingly more of this information is being produced solely as a computerized product with no equivalent in paper form. As this trend continues, a thorough knowledge of existing data bases and the ability to efficiently search them takes on a growing importance in the provision of current accurate information to state government. To ensure that the research staff possesses the necessary skills to perform efficient computerized searches, seven reference librarians attended a total of four different specialized instructional sessions on data base searching during the year. A total of 184 Data Search requests were processed by the end of the year. Since the State Library does not receive a specific appropriation to support this service, all actual search costs, including data base and telecommunication charges, must be paid by the requestor.

State agency use of library facilities grew during the year. In 1986-87, 17,140 individuals visited the library. State employees officially registered as library borrowers totalled 1,939. Adding to its potential library clientele, the State Library extended direct borrowing privileges to permanent employees of state-supported academic institutions in the Columbia metropolitan area in January 1987. All directors of state agencies, as well as all constitutional officers, were issued new library cards during the year. The library's hours of operation were expanded from 8:15 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. to allow state employees the opportunity to use the library either before or after their regular office hours. Circulation figures and research requests both increased over the previous year. Members of state government borrowed 29,705 library items and received assistance with 9,676 reference questions.

During 1986-87, the library embarked on a program to provide state agencies with remote dial-up access to the library's automated catalog - LION (Library Information On-line). Nine state agencies received training and began using their in-house computer equipment to search the library's catalog from their own offices. To supplement the initial on-site training sessions, the library also produced user manuals and instructional brochures which were distributed to interested agencies.

To educate state agency personnel and members of the general public in the use of the library's new automated public access catalog, staff members devoted many hours to instructing library patrons on an individual basis about correct search procedures. In addition, fifteen scheduled demonstrations were made for various groups of state employees and library representatives.

Due to changes brought about by the automation of circulation and patron registration functions, new internal procedures were developed and adopted. Such processes as check-out and renewal of library materials, production of overdue notices, maintenance of patron information files, circulation statistics, and current location status of materials in the collection were greatly streamlined, thus eliminating some extremely labor-intensive, time-consuming tasks.

Legislative Reference Service. The State Library provides a special information service for members of the South Carolina General Assembly, legislative committee researchers, and legislative interns. Research requests vary from information needed for speech preparation to extensive background information on legislative issues. To assist in researching these needs, the State Library subscribes to two major services which report on significant governmental actions occurring in other states - From the State Capitols and State Policy Reports. The research staff also draws upon the entire library collection as well as resources available through interlibrary loan in order to answer legislative requests. In order to advertise its services to the General Assembly, the State Library issued new individual library cards to all state legislators. During January, 1987 an orientation program was held for graduate student interns assigned to various legislative committees to acquaint them with the resources and services of the State Library. During the year, the library answered 281 research requests from the legislature and provided 2,983 pages of photocopy free of charge in response to legislative requests.

Interlibrary Loan Service. The State Library provides statewide reference and interlibrary loan service to supplement local library resources and acts as the central component of a statewide network designed to supplement and coordinate library resources within the state. Since no single library is able to meet the diverse informational needs of its patrons, the collection of the State Library has been consistently developed as a source upon which local libraries may draw to make information and materials available to South Carolinians in their own communities. Requests submitted to the State Library by public, state institutional, academic, and special libraries reflect the efforts of libraries to supplement their own holdings for those citizens interested in improving the quality of daily life; educating themselves and their children; understanding state, national, and international affairs; and coping with the challenges of the workplace. To provide their patrons with needed information, libraries submit requests for materials on a variety of topics, from raising plants and animals to identifying and locating federal regulations or specifications. The State Library draws on its own collection for both research purposes and to supply materials. In addition, the computerized search capabilities of its Data Search service are utilized to supplement standard research methods in providing information to public and state institutional librarians.

During 1986-87, the Interlibrary Loan Service processed a total of 22,295 requests, which included 5,080 information requests and 17,215 title requests. In response to these requests, 26,294 books and 19,196 pages of photocopy were mailed to all types of libraries.

Many of the activities of 1986-87 were related to the implementation of the South Carolina Library Network, a computer-based state library network and communication system designed to give libraries better access to the collections and services of the State Library. Network training sessions were conducted throughout the year for public, academic, and special libraries in South Carolina. Upon completion of their training, these libraries began using the computerized Network to identify the holdings of the State Library and to place requests for information and materials on-line. In previous years, the majority of requests had been transmitted via an In-WATS telephone service provided for public and state institutional libraries. This In-WATS service was discontinued as of December, 1986. As of the end of the year, the majority of interlibrary loan requests were being submitted via the Network with occasional requests received through the mail, SOLINET, or telephone.

Interlibrary Loan internal procedures were greatly affected by the automation of the library's catalog and circulation system as well as the operation of the Network. As a result, Interlibrary Loan staff members underwent extensive training and were also involved in the development and implementation of new procedures in all aspects of their work. As a result of the implementation of the Network, many operations which formerly had been performed manually were now being done by computer. Staff members, consequently, were freed for activities which insured better service to users and an even faster turnaround on requests than had been possible in the past.

The advent of the Network saw an immediate impact on the number and types of requests placed with the Interlibrary Loan Service. For the first time, libraries could not only immediately identify title holdings of the State Library, but they could also perform their own subject searches when appropriate. Titles requested on-line were processed and mailed by staff within 24 hours in most instances. Through electronic mail, libraries continued to make requests for information, photocopy, books, government documents, and location information which could not be placed on-line through the catalog itself. The improved access capabilities of the South Carolina Library Network were extended to South Carolina academic and technical college libraries during a series of training sessions held in the spring of 1987. During the year, academic and special libraries submitted 3,728 requests to the State Library, borrowed 3,624 books, and obtained 5,824 pages of photocopy.

To assist libraries in placing requests for photocopies from journals, the State Library issued the fourth edition of its periodicals holdings list. This computer-produced microfiche list was distributed to all public and academic libraries in the state to help them identify the more than 2,200 journal titles available at the State Library.

Both libraries and state employees may request information on research materials that are not part of the State Library's collection. To provide information concerning the locations of these materials in other library collections, the State Library owns several union lists of both books and periodicals. The State Library, as a member of the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET), also has access to the OCLC computerized data base of more than 12 million items held by more than 6,000 libraries across the country. More than 40 South Carolina libraries are presently SOLINET members. The SOLINET data base is used extensively to locate materials held in other libraries. In 1986-87, the Interlibrary Loan Service provided locations for 1,123 books and supplied this information to all types of libraries in South Carolina. Through its membership in SOLINET the State Library participates in an OCLC Interlibrary Loan Subsystem which permits member libraries to place and receive interlibrary requests. This system was used to support the library's service to state government by locating and requesting research materials which were not owned by the State Library, and which many times were not available in the state.

The library also received requests from libraries outside of the state wishing to borrow materials in the State Library. During the past year, interlibrary loan requests were received from 46 other states and Canada. Many of these requests were for materials in the State Documents and South Carolina collections.

South Carolina Library Network. The South Carolina Library Network is a statewide library and information network operated by the State Library. The network's long-range goal is to enable local library users to have access to the state's total library resources. Through the use of automation and telecommunications technology, the network promotes interlibrary cooperation and resource sharing.

As the central component of the network, the State Library uses an integrated library automation system, ATLAS - A Total Library Automation System software produced by Data Research Associates to manage its data base of more than 700,000 items. The State Library's internal functions which are presently automated include circulation, cataloging and inventory maintenance, public access catalog, interlibrary loan, and audio-visual booking. Thirty-two terminals within the State Library are connected to the library's central computer which is housed and maintained by the Computer Services Division of the University of South Carolina under a contractual arrangement.

The communications component of the network has dial-up access capabilities permitting remote libraries and state agencies to search the State Library's data base and place interlibrary loan requests using a variety of microcomputers and terminals. The network plan established a multi-phase schedule for extending access to libraries and state agencies to assure sufficient time for training and evaluation. During the year emphasis was placed on increasing user participation. Between July and September, the State Library staff conducted fourteen training sessions for staff from twenty-eight county libraries, thus completing the training for all forty-six county libraries begun the previous year. The libraries immediately began using the network, thereby making South Carolina the first state in the nation in which all county libraries have on-line access to a back-up research library.

Between February and April 1987, access was extended to academic libraries; and the State Library staff conducted seven training sessions for thirty-eight academic and technical college libraries. Currently the following academic libraries are participating in the South Carolina Library Network:

Technical Colleges: Aiken, Beaufort, Chesterfield-Marlboro, Denmark, Florence-Darlington, Greenville, Midlands, Orangeburg-Calhoun, Piedmont, Spartanburg, Sumter, Tri-County, Trident, Williamsburg, and York.

Universities and Colleges: Bob Jones, Central Wesleyan, Clemson, College of Charleston, Columbia Bible and Seminary, Columbia, Francis Marion, Furman, Medical University of South Carolina, North Greenville, Presbyterian, USC-Aiken, USC-Beaufort, USC-Coastal, USC-Lancaster, USC-Spartanburg, USC-Sumter, USC-Union, USC Processing Center, USC School of Medicine, Winthrop, and Wofford.

The remaining academic libraries are not yet participating due to a lack of appropriate equipment.

Ten State agencies in the Columbia area were trained in the use of the network, and their staff began to search the State Library's data base from their offices. The major difficulty encountered in state agency participation was due to the many different modems available for agency use.

Plans were made for a Public School Library Media Center Demonstration Project to determine the feasibility of school library media center participation in the network. In addition to automating individual school library functions, the project will study resource sharing at the school district level. The School District of Oconee County and the Lexington County School District V were selected for the two-year pilot project to be conducted in 1987-89.

In developing network plans, the State Library has been assisted by the South Carolina Task Force on Library Automation and Networking, an advisory group consisting of representatives of all types of libraries. In September, 1986, the Task Force appointed a special committee to study the feasibility of a statewide union list of serials containing the periodicals held by South Carolina libraries. As a future component of the South Carolina Library Network, the statewide serials list would enable libraries to more effectively obtain needed journal articles and eliminate duplicate purchases of expensive serials. During future phases, the South Carolina Library Network will have an expanded data base including statewide locations of special collections deemed most significant for interlibrary loan and resource sharing. In addition to the union list of serials, the possible components include state and federal documents, newspapers, local history and South Caroliniana.

Eventually the network will permit the linking of local automated library systems in order for the libraries to communicate easily and share resources fully. To that end, the State Library continues to encourage the planning for local automated systems and the creation of local data bases. During the year, the State Library awarded Library Services and Construction Act Title III grants for automation studies for the Abbeville-Greenwood Regional Library, the Aiken-Bamberg-Barnwell-Edgefield Regional Library, and the Sumter County Library. Grants for the conversion of older catalog records to machine-readable format were awarded to Clemson University, the University of South Carolina, the University of South Carolina Processing Center, the Horry County Library, and the Orangeburg County Library.

Government Documents. In 1970 the South Carolina State Library became a selective depository for federal publications in the U.S. Superintendent of Document's Depository Program. The State Library receives 50.6% of all publications available through the program.

Since June 1986, the libraries of Clemson University and the University of South Carolina have served as a joint regional federal depository library, receiving between them all publications available through the U.S. Superintendent of Documents Depository Program. This arrangement ensures South Carolinians access to the full range of federal publishing and enables the fifteen selective depository libraries in the state to discard old, out-of-date or unused publications to one of the regionals.

The State Documents Depository Program began in July 1982 after passage of the State Documents Depository Act. The Act requires all agencies, branches and institutions of state government to send fifteen copies of their publications to the State Library which is responsible for the program. The State Library catalogs and retains three copies of all publications and sends the other twelve copies plus associated cataloging information to ten in-state and two out-of-state affiliate depository libraries. In the five years since the inception of the State Documents Depository Program, the affiliate libraries have been able to establish increasingly useful collections of information sources relating to South Carolina and the operation of South Carolina state government. A citizen of South Carolina can now obtain manufacturing employment figures by county or information on the performance of a particular school district by visiting a nearby depository library. The State Library's depository program is coordinated with the Department of Archives and History's record retention program to insure availability of state information without duplication.

During 1986-87, 1,215 state publications were distributed to affiliate depository libraries. Of these, 345 were new titles and 794 were additions to existing titles. Seventy-six titles distributed were considered too general or ephemeral to be cataloged.

Affiliate state publications depository libraries in South Carolina are Clemson University, College of Charleston, Francis Marion College, Greenville County Library, Lander College, South Carolina State College, Spartanburg County Library, USC-Beaufort, USC-Coastal, and Winthrop College. The Library of Congress and the Center for Research Libraries in Chicago also receive one copy of South Carolina state publications.

B. TECHNICAL SERVICES

The Technical Services Department coordinates the selection, ordering and processing of all materials for the State Library collections, including audio-visual materials and state and federal documents. The book stock is a one-copy, non-fiction collection, except for South Carolina titles. It includes periodicals and newspapers in both paper and microfilm, and services such as ERIC in microfiche. There are separate collections of both federal and state documents. Principal additions during the year are as follows:

| Item | Additions | Total |
|---|---|---|
| Books | 8,288 | 188,869 |
| State Documents | 3,013 | 29,434 |
| Federal Documents in print | 6,010 | 86,303 |
| Federal Documents in microfiche | 12,781 | 90,049 |
| Microfilm reels | 728 | 14,945 |
| Microfiche | 17,463 | 340,216 |

Being a member of Southeastern Library Network, a computerized network of libraries affiliated with the national network, OCLC, Inc., has made it possible to catalog new acquisitions quickly and efficiently and to continue input of retrospective holdings into the data base. The total number of retrospective titles added this year was 2,252, bringing the total to 101,915 titles. The greater part of this project has required no extra personnel and no extra time. Adding the library's holdings to the national network data base has resulted in greater use through interlibrary loan. Having a machine-readable data base has made it possible for us to automate this library to better serve both state agencies and the county libraries.

Barcoding continued this year, and, although Technical Services did not do the barcoding of the state documents and reference collections, the staff did handle all problems which arose concerning the records. As each new problem arose, new procedures were devised to handle each process. Some procedures were transferred to other departments, and some procedures transferred from other departments.

Records for the Audio-Visual collection were added to the data base in FY 87. This enabled that department to automate its bookings to the county libraries.

The number of new publications by state agencies continues to grow. An additional 668 state document titles, for a total of 1,871 new titles, were cataloged during the fifth year since depository legislation was enacted. Each year has seen an increase over the year before. The increase for FY 87 was 248 over the previous fiscal year. Cataloging information is still supplied with each new title sent to the depository libraries, and the Checklist of South Carolina State Documents is issued quarterly with an annual cumulative index. The Checklist is also fully automated.

The State Library cooperates with the Library of Congress in the National Coordinated Cataloging Operations, an on-line authority file of personal, corporate or geographic names; uniform titles; and meetings. This makes for uniformity in cataloging so that on-line access will be possible across the country. Names established by the State Library are entered by the Library of Congress into its on-line name authority used by the libraries of North America through the bibliographic utilities of OCLC, RLIN, WLN, and UTLAS. The South Carolina State Library was the eighth state to join in this cooperative effort.

VI. STATE LIBRARY AWARDS

Each year the South Carolina State Library honors individuals, organizations, or libraries which have made outstanding contributions to library service in South Carolina. One Award was presented during the 1986 annual conference of the South Carolina Library Association. The Public Service Award was presented to Mary and Laurens Moore of Gaffney, South Carolina, in recognition of their service as Library Ambassadors for the Cherokee County Library. Since January, 1976, Mr. and Mrs. Moore have broadcast a popular radio show about books and programs at the library. In addition, Mr. Moore has served on the Library Board for more than ten years.

VII. VOLUNTEER SERVICES

Volunteers contributing time and services benefit the State Library and particularly the Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. Members of boards and advisory councils represent user groups and aid in the development of policies and services. Individuals and groups perform tasks such as narration of recorded material, repairing Talking Book machines and headphones, preparation of newsletters and other mass mailings, and other tasks for which there is not sufficient staff time.

Since the Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped has moved into larger quarters with space for volunteers to work with new equipment such as a sound booth and recording equipment, it is anticipated that the volunteer program will soon begin to expand.

During 1986-87 some ninety-four individuals contributed 1,529.75 hours of service as shown below:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| State Library | | |
| Library Board | 7 members | 76.25 hours |
| LSCA Advisory Council | 10 members | 20 hours |
| Task Force on Library Automation & Networking | 15 members | 30 hours |
| Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped | | |
| Advisory Council | 11 members | 8 hours |
| Telephone Pioneers | 39 members | 1,071 hours |
| Other Volunteers | 19 members | 324.5 hours |

Based on formulas from the Governor's Office the service value of these volunteers to the State Library is more than $12,174.25. Cash donations bring the total volunteer investment in the agency to more than $14,313.25 in the past year. Staff time devoted to this program was approximately 135 hours.
